Successfully supporting the development and learning of young children, and their families, requires that early childhood educators acquire extensive knowledge and skills within the field of early childhood education. As well, it is critical that dispositions--reflecting beliefs and values that translate into behavior—are congruent with those supported and advanced by the larger early childhood field.

According to NCATE (2000), dispositions refer to the “values, commitments, and professional ethics that influence behaviors toward students, families, colleagues, and communities and affect student learning, motivation, and development as well as the educator’s own professional growth...” It is critical that early childhood preparation programs define dispositions, include these dispositions within the program curriculum, and regularly assess them.

The following provides an overview of the IL UBER Competency that reflects the disposition, defining benchmarks, and an accompanying rubric that apply to Level 2. It is suggested that these are assessed in a variety of ways, including student-practitioner reflection, faculty assessment and peer assessment. Each of these dispositions should be assessed throughout Level 2. Following presentation of the dispositions and rubric, self-assessment and faculty assessment tools are presented.
